Authored by renowned experts in the field, this book offers a thorough examination of the concept of legitimate expectations, its legal basis, and its application in investment treaty arbitration. With meticulous analysis and extensive case studies, it explores the essential elements of legitimate expectations, including:

- The nature and scope of legitimate expectations
- Sources of legitimate expectations (e.g., treaties, laws, statements, practices)
- The reasonable and legitimate nature of the expectations
- The reliance of the investor on these expectations
- The protection of legitimate expectations against arbitrary or unreasonable changes

This comprehensive guide delves into the procedural and evidentiary aspects of establishing and defending legitimate expectations in arbitration. It provides practical advice on:

- Pleading and proving legitimate expectations
- The burden of proof and allocation of evidence
- The role of expert testimony
- The standard of review by arbitral tribunals

Beyond the legal and procedural analysis, Protection of Legitimate Expectations in Investment Treaty Arbitration also examines the broader policy implications of this principle. It discusses the balance between investor protection and state sovereignty, the promotion of economic development, and the accountability of states in the international investment regime.

This book is an indispensable resource for:

- Investors seeking to protect their investments in foreign jurisdictions
- Counsel representing investors and states in investment treaty arbitrations
- Arbitral tribunals adjudicating investment disputes
- Academics and researchers specializing in international investment law

With its comprehensive analysis, practical guidance, and insightful commentary, Protection of Legitimate Expectations in Investment Treaty Arbitration is the definitive guide to this essential principle in international investment law. It empowers investors, counsel, and tribunals with the knowledge and strategies to ensure the fair and equitable treatment of investments worldwide.
